

From Snoring to Scoring

Creating a motivating classroom experience in practice

Joost Driesens (MSc), University of Groningen Library, the Netherlands

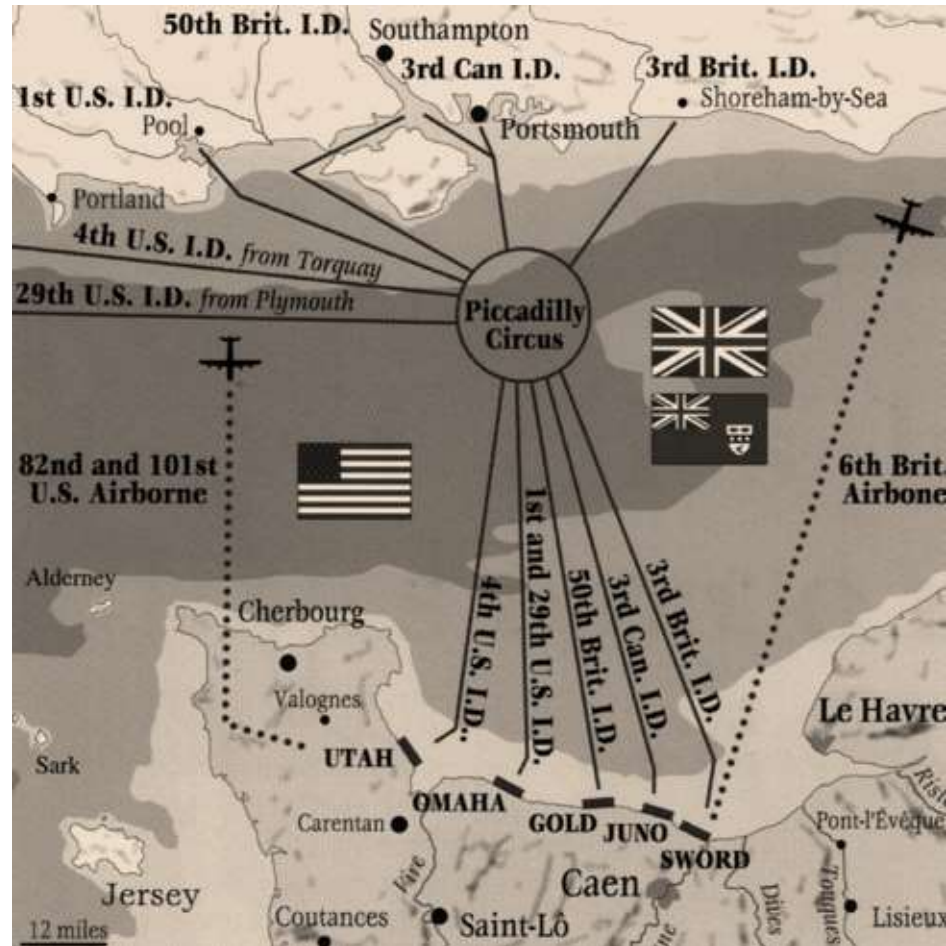

A difficult crowd?

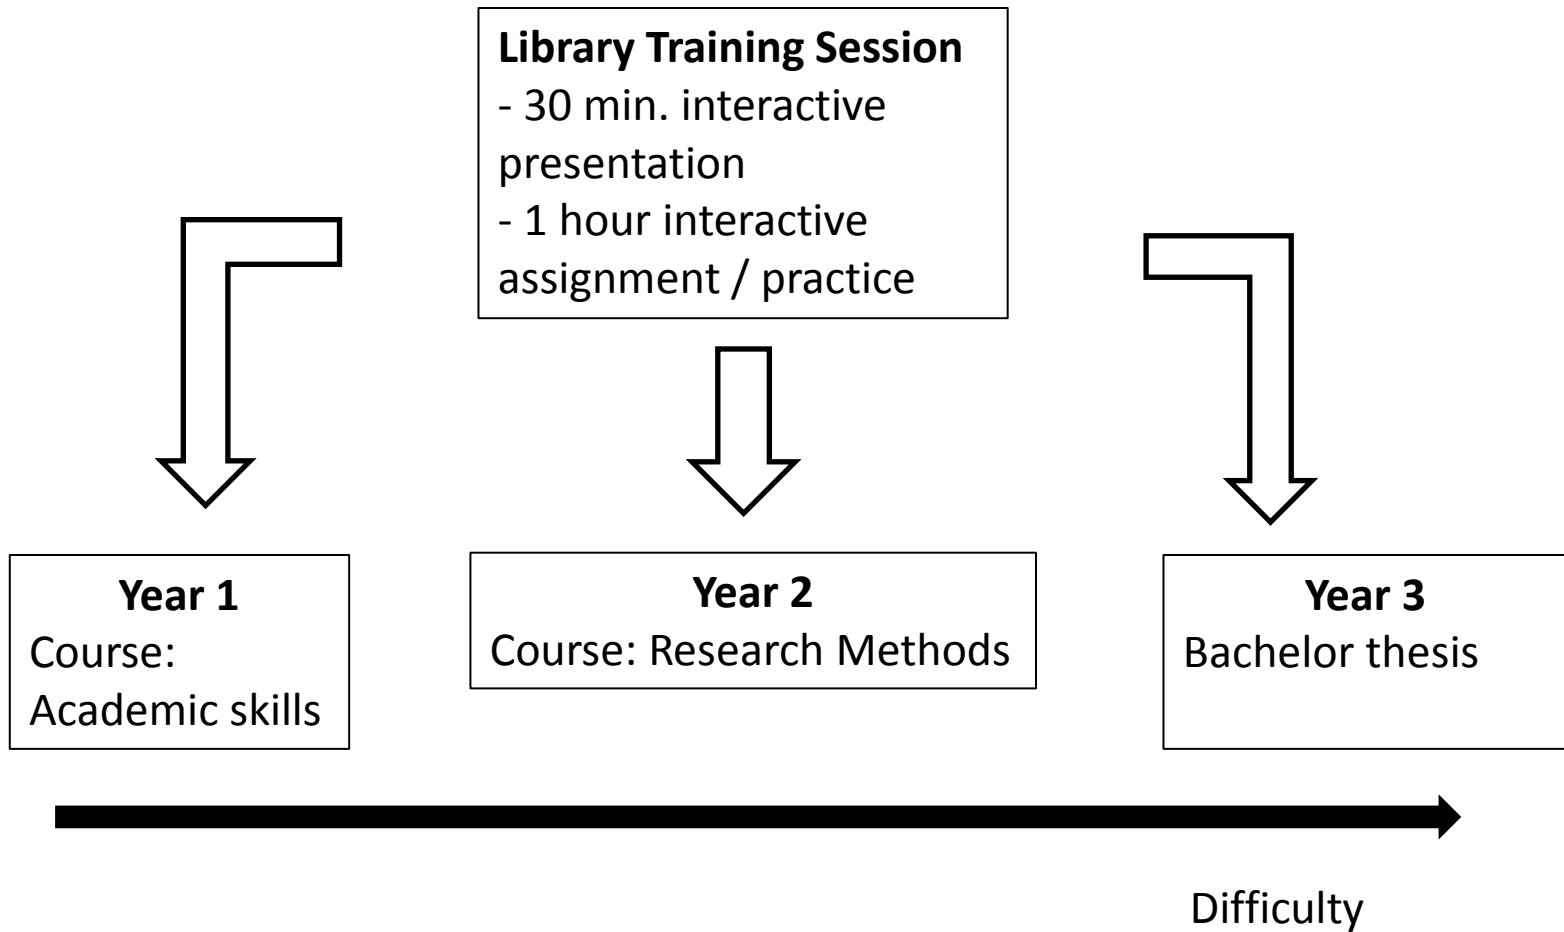

Integrated approach

The grand strategy

Planned programme example

Instructor training example

- Get the best instructor training you can get
 - Presentation courses
 - Cooperate with educational department of your institution for professional educational support

Instructor training example

- Don't be afraid to try new things out in class

The classroom setting

- Use multiple modes to engage the students:
 - Talk
 - Ask questions
 - Start discussions
 - Give assignments
 - Let them practice with their own topics

The classroom setting

- These strategies will activate their knowledge, this is a good preparation for new learning
- Using different modes of interaction will keep things interesting and fit different learning styles

Everybody a library ninja?

- What's your talent?
 - Demonstrating your knowledge
 - Leading discussions
 - The occasional joke
 - Telling a story

The classroom setting

- The overall atmosphere should be challenging
- Don't try to make it fun. The training will be fun, because it's useful and challenging

Pitfalls

- Meeting with higher-ups is not always better
- Suffering from succes!

Benefits

- Improved classroom motivation
- Professional working relation at educational level
- Improved self-confidence for instructors

No more snoring

Show your students

- The bigger picture
- The value of today's lesson
 - Your expertise

